DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-7 are currently pending and have been examined.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed 15 April 2005 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

The Applicant argues that Ahmad does not teach or suggest a program key or P-Key. The Examiner does not agree. Ahmad does disclose such a program key ("Software Module").

It is also noted that the Applicant has failed to seasonably challenge the Examiner's assertions of well known subject matter in the previous Office action(s) pursuant to the requirements set forth under MPEP § 2144.03. A "seasonable challenge" is an explicit demand for evidence set forth by Applicant in the next response. Accordingly, the claim limitations the Examiner considered as "well known" in the first Office action, i.e. transmitting a user ID along with a connection request in a Internet network system, using a dialer for entering a user ID, password, and telephone number for accessing a network provider using a modem, authenticating a user, sending a message of a connection failure, automatic assigning of an IP address known as DHCP, and disconnecting from a network provider in a Internet network system, are now established as admitted prior art of record for the course of the prosecution. See In re Chevenard, 139 F.2d 71, 60 USPQ 239 (CCPA 1943).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

Claims 1-7 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 5 925 127 to Ahmad.

Regarding claim 1, Ahmad discloses an information distribution method for transmitting information to an information terminal connected via a network, comprising the steps of:

a user, who uses a network via a network provider under a condition of payment of a connection fee, transmitting a connection request from an information terminal of said user to said network provider ("logs on to Internet"; column 8, lines 54-57);

downloading a program from a server managed by said network provider, or by an entity that has a tie-up with said network provider; (column 8, lines 42-53; column 9, lines 45-49)

transmitting, to said information terminal of said user, either a license key that is referred to when said downloaded program is activated or executed and that disables at least a part of the function of said program when said program matches a predetermined license condition, or information with which said license key can be generated ("CICO module"); (column 9, lines 58-62; column 10, lines 21-34)

again transmitting, at a time subsequent to said immediately preceding step, a connection request that includes said user ID from said information terminal of said user to said network provider; and transmitting, to said information terminal of said user, either a new license key that is referred to when said downloaded program is activated or executed and that disables at least a part of the function of said program when said program matches another predetermined license condition, or information with which said new license key can be generated.

(column 14, line 66-column 15, line 5)

Ahmad does not expressly disclose transmitting a connection request that includes a user ID from an information terminal of said user to said network provider.

Examiner takes Official Notice (see MPEP § 2144.03) that transmitting a user ID along with a connection request in a Internet network system was well known in the art at the time the invention was made. The Applicant is entitled to traverse any/all official notice taken in this action according to MPEP § 2144.03, namely, "if applicant traverses such an assertion, the examiner should cite a reference in support of his or her position". However, MPEP § 2144.03 further states "See also In re Boon, 439 F.2d 724, 169 USPQ 231 (CCPA 1971) (a challenge to the taking of judicial notice must contain adequate information or argument to create on its face a reasonable doubt regarding the circumstances justifying the judicial notice)."

Specifically, In re Boon, 169 USPQ 231, 234 states "as we held in Ahlert, an applicant must be given the opportunity to challenge either the correctness of the fact asserted or the notoriety or repute of the reference cited in support of the assertion. We did not mean to imply by this statement that a bald challenge, with nothing more, would be all that was needed". Further note that 37 CFR § 1.671(c)(3) states "Judicial notice means official notice". Thus, a traversal by the Applicant that is merely "a bald challenge, with nothing more" will be given very little weight.

Claims 4-7 are also rejected since claims 4-7 recite an information distribution method, system, software product, and program storage device that recite substantially the same limitations as recited in claim 1.

Regarding claim 2, Ahmad discloses an information distribution method for transmitting information to an information terminal connected via a network, comprising the steps of:

a user, who employs a network via a network provider under a condition of payment of a connection fee; transmitting a connection request to said network provider; ("logs on to Internet"; column 7, lines 33-39; column 8, lines 54-57)

transmitting a service menu screen ("Internet site"), which is an initial screen, from said network provider to said information terminal of said user; transmitting, when said user selects a file for downloading an article on said service menu, a request for a connection with a file server from said

information terminal of said user to said network provider; transmitting, when said file server receives said connection request, to said information terminal of said user a file downloading service menu or a menu that can be introduced into said file downloading service menu ("rental form"); determining whether a program key ("software module"), uniquely identifying a program type at said network provider (column 3, lines 45-61), is present at said information terminal (column 11, lines 4-11), and where said program key is not found to presented, transmitting, when said user selects the downloading of a desired file from said service menu, a file downloading request from said information terminal of said user to said network provider; (column 8, line 54-60; column 9, lines 38-44)

generating a license key ("licensing information"), based on specified downloaded program information ("program module"), that is associated with said desired file that is selected by said user and with said user ID that is specified for said IP address included in said file downloading request and assigned to said information terminal of said user, and information that is associated with a license condition for a downloaded program ("CICO module"); (column 9, lines 58-62; column 10, lines 21-34)

lines 4-11), said program file being capable of referring to said downloaded license key when said downloaded program is activated or executed, and capable of disabling at least a part of the function of said downloaded program, when said program matches a predetermined said licensing condition provided by reference (column 9, lines 45-49; column 10, lines 21-34)

transmitting said downloaded program specifying information from said information terminal of said user to said network provider; and generating a new license key based on said user ID and said received downloaded program specifying information; and transmitting said new license key to said information terminal of said user. (column 14, line 66-column 15, line 5)

Ahmad does not expressly disclose wherein a user, who obtains a user ID and a password and employs a network via a network provider under a condition of payment of a connection fee, activating a dialer at said information terminal, entering said user ID, said password and a telephone number for accessing said network provider, and transmitting a connection request to said network provider; checking, upon the receipt of said connection request for said network provider, said user ID and said password that are included in said connection request; transmitting, when the results obtained by the check are negative, a message used to notify said user of a connection failure; assigning, when the results obtained by the check are affirmative, an IP address to said information terminal of said user, and registering a set consisting of said user ID and said correlated IP address; transmitting said IP address assigned for said information terminal of said user; and disconnecting said information terminal of said user from said network provider.

Examiner takes Official Notice (see MPEP § 2144.03) that using a dialer for entering a user ID, password, and telephone number for accessing a network provider using a modem, authenticating a user, sending a message of a connection failure, automatic assigning of an IP address known as DHCP, and disconnecting from a network provider in a Internet network system was well known in the art at the time the invention was made. The Applicant is entitled to traverse any/all official notice taken in this action according to MPEP § 2144.03, namely, "if applicant traverses such an assertion, the examiner should cite a reference in support of his or her position". However, MPEP § 2144.03 further states "See also In re Boon, 439 F.2d 724, 169 USPQ 231 (CCPA 1971) (a challenge to the taking of judicial notice must contain adequate information or argument to create on its face a reasonable doubt regarding the circumstances justifying the judicial notice)." Specifically, In re Boon, 169 USPQ 231, 234 states "as we held in Ahlert, an applicant must be given the opportunity to challenge either the correctness of the fact asserted or the notoriety or repute of the reference cited in support of the assertion. We did not mean to imply by this statement that a bald challenge, with nothing more, would be all that was needed". Further note that 37 CFR § 1.671(c)(3) states "Judicial notice means official notice". Thus, a traversal by the Applicant that is merely "a bald challenge, with nothing more" will be given very little weight.

Regarding claim 3, Ahmad discloses an information distribution method for transmitting information to an information terminal connected via a network, comprising the steps of:

a user, who employs a network via a network provider under a condition of payment of a connection fee, transmitting a connection request to said network provider; ("logs on to Internet"; column 7, lines 33-39; column 8, lines 54-57)

transmitting a service menu screen ("Internet site"), which is an initial screen, from said network provider to said information terminal of said user; transmitting, when said user selects a file for downloading an article on said service menu, a request for a connection with a file server from said information terminal of said user to said network provider;

transmitting, when said file server receives said connection request, to said information terminal of said user a file downloading service menu or a menu that can be introduced into said file downloading service menu ("rental form"); determining whether a program key ("software module"), uniquely identifying a program type at said network provider (column 3, lines 45-61), is present at said information terminal (column 11, lines 4-11), and where said program key is not found to presented, transmitting, when said user selects the downloading of a desired file from said file downloading service menu, a file downloading request from said information terminal of said user to said network provider; (column 8, line 54-60; column 9, lines 38-44)

generating a license key ("licensing information"), based on specified downloaded program information ("program module"), that is associated with said desired file that is selected by said user and with said user ID that is specified for said IP address included in said file downloading request and assigned to said information terminal of said user, and information that is associated with a license condition for a downloaded program ("CICO module"); (column 9, lines 58-62; column 10, lines 21-34)

registering a user ID and said downloaded program specifying information with which said user ID is correlated; (column 9, lines 38-44)

downloading to said information terminal said license key, said program key, and said selected program file (column 11, lines 4-11), said program file being capable of referring to said downloaded license key when said downloaded program is activated or executed, and capable of disabling at least a part of the function of said downloaded program, when said program matches a predetermined said licensing condition provided by reference (column 9, lines 45-49; column 10, lines 21-34)

searching for said downloaded program specifying information that is registered while correlated with said user ID; generating a new license key based on said user ID and said downloaded program specifying information that is found through said search; and transmitting said new license key to said information terminal of said user. (column 14, line 66-column 15, line 5)

Ahmad does not expressly disclose wherein a user, who obtains a user ID and a password and employs a network via a network provider under a condition of payment of a connection fee, activating a dialer at said information terminal, entering said user ID, said password and a telephone number for accessing said network provider, and transmitting a connection request to said network provider; checking, upon the receipt of said connection request for said network provider, said user ID and said password that are included in said connection request; transmitting, when the results obtained by the check are negative, a message used to notify said user of a connection failure; assigning, when the results obtained by the check are affirmative, an IP address to said information terminal of said user, and registering a set consisting of said user ID and said correlated IP address; transmitting said IP address assigned for said information terminal of said user; and disconnecting said information terminal of said user from said network provider.

Examiner takes Official Notice (see MPEP § 2144.03) that using a dialer for entering a user ID, password, and telephone number for accessing a network provider using a modem, authenticating a user, sending a message of a connection failure, automatic assigning of an IP address known as DHCP, and disconnecting from a network provider in a Internet network system was well known in the art at the time the invention was made. The Applicant is entitled to traverse any/all official notice taken in this action according to MPEP § 2144.03, namely, "if applicant traverses such an assertion, the examiner should cite a reference in support of his or her position". However,

Art Unit: 2143

MPEP § 2144.03 further states "See also In re Boon, 439 F.2d 724, 169 USPQ 231 (CCPA 1971) (a challenge to the taking of judicial notice must contain adequate information or argument to create on its face a reasonable doubt regarding the circumstances justifying the judicial notice)." Specifically, In re Boon, 169 USPQ 231, 234 states "as we held in Ahlert, an applicant must be given the opportunity to challenge either the correctness of the fact asserted or the notoriety or repute of the reference cited in support of the assertion. We did not mean to imply by this statement that a bald challenge, with nothing more, would be all that was needed". Further note that 37 CFR § 1.671(c)(3) states "Judicial notice means official notice". Thus, a traversal by the Applicant that is merely "a bald challenge, with nothing more" will be given very little weight.
